

The Library Celebrates the Humanities Festival and National Library Week

The Month of April is when we have the National Library Week (NLW). The theme of this year's NLW is Libraries Lead. As we all know, libraries have played an important role in our lives, old or young, in the past and present and the impact of libraries in our personal, academic and overall development is beyond words.

We are happy celebrating about 110 students participating in resources, services, trivia hunting and have learn some amazing stories about libraries. Students also learned were excited to discover that the 100,000 volumes of books and videos, also showed us that very few students were brave enough to try on finding a scholarly/peer reviewed article and citing it using proper publication style, like APA. As a result, we are convinced that Library Instruction/Information Literacy is still an area that our students need to learn and explore.

to say that in this year's National Library Week, we had activities including guessing library's telling us stories. Through the activities, we about our students and how they feel more about the library. Some students library has FOUR STORIES and houses over and more than 60 databases! The results

This month, the library also participated in College's Humanities Festival. The Library assisted Dr. Crist and her students in the philosophy class to hold a very first research poster session in the library. To begin, Dr. Crist brought her students to the library to take a Library Instruction Lesson, where students learned how to locate scholarly/peer review articles and related books for their topics. The students also learned how to present, argue and respond to listeners' questions. Though it was very first kind of research presentation held in the library, it was successful. We look forward to more faculties to bring their classes to the library to develop their students' research skills. Thanks to Dr. Crist!!! [From Br. Brother Jerry and Martin Martinez continue to digitize images and documents from the Bishop Grutka archive. Some of the images are being digitally restored due to the poor condition some of the photographs are in. (Left) Archive Photo: Bishop Andrew Grutka at the bowling alley. In his youth, Bishop Grutka was an avid athlete and loved bowling throughout his life.

Whiting's Mascot Hall of Fame is scheduled to open this coming fall. As the SHAVINGS (March 31, 1978) photo shows, CCSJ's Fine Arts Department had a mascot, appropriately named

"Art," who watched over activities in the art room. Does anyone know what happened to him?
